ARE PLEADING FOR TARIFF ON LUMBER

Virginia Members of Congress Receive Many Letters on Subject. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WASHINGTON, D. C., February 5.—Recently many letters asking representatives in Congress to use their efforts to retain the tariff on lumber have been received by the Virginians. The following, which was not signed, is a fair sample: "We have been informed that an effort is being made by Congress to repeal or reduce the present duty on Canadian lumber, and we are addressing you to urge your constituents to consider our interest before taking action—not only our interest, but the interest of every landowner and a large number of the laboring class of Eastern Virginia. The lumber market is now at a standstill and we are unable to do our duty of Canadian lumber our markets would be completely demoralized, and hundreds of operators in this section of Virginia would be forced out of business. "Landowners who have in years past realized a nice income from the sale of their timber would no longer have any market for their woodland, but would be forced to do as they did in olden times when they were unable to do a piece of woodland—cut it down and apply the match. Real estate has increased in this section 50 per cent. on account of the prices received from their timber. "Now the laboring man is getting over 100 per cent. increase in wages, and whereas if laid employable would put out of employment, the decrease in wages would be larger than the increase. "We feel as though our business life is depending on the results of the action taken by Congress in this matter, and we earnestly appeal to you in our behalf, the interest of the landowners and in assistance of the laboring class of Virginia, that you will take such measure will be thankfully received and appreciated. "Again asking you kindly to look into the matter."
